

I stongly urge the FCC to "NOT ALLOW" use of cell phones on airborne aircraft. Even if a study shows that cellphones do not intefer with aircraft navigation, as another passenger, I do not want to listen to other passengers constantly chatting or conduct business on their cellphone while airborne. I like to catnap during flight and don't want the passenger next to me chat all the way across country.